Jindivick NEWSLETTER

JANUARY 2023

If you would like to include information about a local event, club, person etc please contact the editor by email via: newsletter@jindivick.org.au, or phone 56 253556.

The deadline for the March issue is February 24 (No February issue)

This Newsletter is published by the Jindivick Progress Association.

We acknowledge the Traditional Owners of this land, the Kurnai people, and pay our respects to their Elders past, present and emerging

This time last year I wrote that 2021 didn't pan out quite as anticipated. We could probably say the same for 2022 So what did happen in Jindivick last year? (see p.3 for listing of Regular Events)

In January Anita showed us how to make apricot chutney, Clucker battled eagles, the gnomes were completely rehabilitated and a small gathering celebrated Australia Day

February started with 65 students at Jindivick Primary School. It didn't rain much. Autumn season at The Garden at Broughton Hall commenced in March, the Senior Jindivick School students had a wonderful time competing in their Athletic Sports at the Geoff Watt Track, the Jindivick gnomes established Swimming, Garden, Music and Book Clubs and Clucker complained loud and long about the lack of rain.

The JPA held a very successful Country Market in early April. Despite the unkind weather visitors enjoyed the Hall's new grassed area. Jindivick Cricket celebrated a very successful year and we were introduced to the locally designed Pit Droid. Scarlet Robins appeared in Nangara in May, Anita introduced us to Roasted Parsnip and Pear Soup, while Atticus Health welcomed new staff and extended its opening hours to seven days a week.

Beau Miles Secret Screenings returned to the Hall in June. Wintery weather allowed the St.James Anglican congregation to rejoice in the warmth and comfort of reverse cycle heating.

Adam James and his champion kelpie, Myamba Moss flew to UK and Germany to conduct several clinics in the training and working of Australian Kelpies. Jindivick School had a fund raiser for Flood Relief in Queensland and NSW. Jindi Jems members enjoyed the Neerim South Quilt show in July. Landcare members learnt the importance of creating bird habitats.

In August Atticus Health introduced their new Enrolled Nurse, Liz Kelly. Peter Ware lead another fascinating Nangara guided tour and Jindivick Cricket Club announced that Gippsland Power Equipment had become the club's Platinum Sponsor. Despite cold, wet weather, The Garden at Broughton Hall opened for Spring in September, with re graveling, remulching, paving, and rock walling as well as new plantings. Clucker complained loud and long about the plethora of rain and mud. Jindivick Primary School's first soiree since Covid: the whole school performed in front of a full house at the Jindivick Hall.

In October the Jindivick Landcare Group enjoyed discovering the results of their many community planting days when they visited the Bagot's dairy farm. The JPA's popular Jindivick Country Market resumed, featuring Nikki's popular cakes, jams, sauces and hampers, and a special Scrap 2 Relax stall. Local artists Laurie Collins, Sue Acheson, Phil Henshall and Gary Miles welcomed visitors as part of the November Open Studios: Meet Our Artists & Makers. The Jindi Jems enjoyed a trip to Thorpedale, Jindivick ended the year with a number of celebrations not possible in the Covid years: Landcare held their AGM and BBQ in December, the Jindi Jems held a Xmas breakup lunch, Jindivick Cricket Club ran their Annual Community Party, Santa visited the Christmas market, and a large group of locals celebrated the year's end with a New Year's Community Get Together at The Jindi Caf'. (see p. 3)

Next month Red Tree Gallery features work by Ayla Saul. Ayla is a young person who has just finished her VCE with some impressive marks, and this will be her first exhibition. It will be a mixture of traditional and digital art resulting in an interesting show. Her art will be on display from late December until 25th January, 2023 so drop in and support a new artist.

Please note: There will NOT be an Australia Day Celebration in Jindivick in 2023.

New years come and new years go, but St James goes on forever. Yes we are back again in 2023 doing our best to provide Jindivickians a place where they can share their faith if they ever have that need. We at St. James Anglican Church, Jindivick are constantly being surprised by visitors dropping by on a Sunday morning to participate in our services. And they are all welcome, as you will be any time you would like to drop by. Our services run every first and third Sunday of the month over the year. Arrive about 11.00. See you then.

On 19 December the Aitken family, represented by Bill Aitken generously presented the Jindivick Hall Committee with a photo and medal-lion awarded to Archie Aitken for most consistent player in 1929. The Aitkens put the medal in a frame with the photo of the team, and named some of the players. There are pictures at the hall of other Jindivick Football club teams, and a box with trophies won by this premiership team. If you know the names of any other players in the photo please contact the Hall Committee.

The Jindivick Football Club was formed in the 1900s, playing in the Neerim South & District Football League from 1905—1953, when it was disbanded and the Neerim and Neerim South teams merged and joined the EDFL in 1954.

Debra H Clucker January 2023

Ho Ho, it's Christmas holiday time if you didn't know. Lots of fun to be had. Family come together and create a great flock. Presents. And my presence of course. Cricket and those noisy crickets. Christmas pud topped with Christmas beetles. (Don't know what was put into that pud, but it sure did put some flip into your flap!) A few yabbies on the BBQ. Carols to be sung, if you know the words. It's a grand time.

We are heading off on our annual camping trip to the house shed this year. All six of us. That's all that is left now out of 30 as those pesky fluffy legs have a ravenous appetite. Hopefully we will be off their Christmas menu while they chase a turkey dinner and give us a chance to relax and stretch out on a perch or two. Plenty of shade and a chance to catch up with our old mates the ducks.

Merry Christmas and a Happier New Year from Debra H Clucker, a merry old chook.

Nangara Notes

Grey Shrike-thrush

The more open parts of Nangara Reserve – up on the higher ridge-lines – are ideal habitat for the Grey Shrike-thrush. Generally, they are absent from the denser and wetter gullies.

Their far-carrying, melodious calls are heard mostly in the early mornings but often they will call throughout the day as well. The most common call of the Grey Shrike-thrush is described as a rising, drawn out, 'pip-pip-pip-hoeee'. Lyrebirds will often mimic the call.

Although the Grey Shrike-thrush is a well known and common bird in our district, being present at times in urban parks and gardens, in many areas of Australia this bird has retreated to more undisturbed bushland.

The Grey Shrike-thrush is a sedentary species with family groups occupying year-round territories.

They feed mostly on the ground, taking a variety of invertebrates and small reptiles amongst the leaf litter. Carrion and the nestlings of other birds are sometimes taken. The undulating, swooping flight through the mid-story is an identifying characteristic for this bird.

The Grey Shrike-thrush builds a cup-shaped nest of grass and bark, normally beside a broken-off branch or piece of peeling bark, sometimes in the top of a hollow tree stump, or even on the ground.

(The author has had some success with the bird using an open-fronted small nest box).

Grey Shrike-thrush: Colluricincla harmonica. Colluricincla = shrike-thrush, harmonica = harmonious.

Longwarry Structure Plan

Council has adopted the Longwarry Structure Plan that will guide future development and growth in Longwarry over the next 20 years.

The Plan was developed through community consultation, along with extensive background research and analysis, to ensure the plan fits the community's and Council's long-term vision for Longwarry.

For more information, and to read the plan, scan the QR code.

It's time to splash into summer

Dive into summer with a swim at one of Baw Baw Shire's seasonal outdoor swimming pools in Drouin, Neerim South, Thorpdale and Trafalgar, and the indoor pool in Rowley.

The pools are open to the community from 1 December to 1 April annually.

Outdoor pools open when the temperature is lowest for 25 degrees or more.
